EXHIBITION/TALK WORTHING MUSEUM & ART GALLERY

Alan Martin curated exhibition at Worthing Museum and Art Gallery, featuring original comic artwork by Jamie Hewlett and Tank Girl memorabilia.

He reflected on his college days at Northbrook College, telling current art and design students to seize every opportunity. An inspiring, informative talk in the museum's education room with a very engaged audience.

“The New Amusements exhibition and events have been a perfect way for the museum to generate new audiences”

“The work shop gave the students the remit to work individually and collectively as a larger design team boosting their confidence in a whole realm of areas.”

Jenni Nicholls - St. Andrews Boys High School

120 students from local schools participated in free workshops at St Paul's Arts Centre. They experienced live VJing with As Described. A 'TV studio' was created in the glass cube, projecting live drawing to the large TV prop on stage.

NEW AMUSEMENTS ARCADE ST PAUL'S ARTS CENTRE

New artwork by Northbrook College students was projected on the large TV screen on stage. Students were then invited to experiment with live VJing applying effects to their creations.

“ It felt like a legend being created last night. New Amusements would be a central attraction in the coolest festivals every summer. Well done all you visionaries and makers and performers. Fabulous thing! ”

Mike Pailthorpe - Senior Tutor in Music, BA Degree Business & Management, Northbrook College

We collaborated with theater and music students from Northbrook College to create a unique experience - a human arcade. Props created during the education programme transformed the space. The 1p entrance fee was exchanged for tokens (recycled squashed bottle tops). St Paul's was buzzing with an audience of nearly 300 people, who were then invited to use the tokens to interact and play the human arcade games.

“What a great thing, people full of creative energy and expressiveness. Totally mad and totally brilliant. Congratulations on a unique event.”

Josh Craggs, a music student at Northbrook College, DJ'd providing live sound loops influenced by an arcade. He also inviting the audience to create their own sounds too.

Theater students were incredible, their performances and energy made it a magical, fun night. Throughout the evening 'jackpots' signalled a flash mob or choreographed routine featuring the entire cast.

Students from Bohunt Worthing played acoustic sessions in the 'Chill Out Chapel' and gave an improvised performance on stage.

The Silver Dream Machine play live on TV.

Team Arcade ..!!! That was great.. A deep deep pleasure to be involved with you all on this creative journey .. am buzzing from the culmination of all your hard work, imagination and efforts ... You've well and truly raised the bar..... and thank you wonderful, engaged, interested and curious audience of Worthing who came to join in the adventures at the super fine establishment of St Paul's Art Centre.

ART STUDIO/POSTCARDS HUT 34, EAST BEACH STUDIO

East Beach Art Studios provided a new audience, an opportunity for students to promote their artwork via printed postcards and experience working art studios, meeting professional artists/makers.

“The postcards are brilliant, I can’t wait to show the students how professional their work looks, it’s great for them to see what can be achieved when they meet deadlines.”

Pete Floate - Course Leader
UAL Extended Diploma in Art & Design

Live drawing activities took place at Hut 34.

The theme of Light & Shadow was given to students as a starting point to produce new work. 2500 postcards were printed (250/design) enabling 10 students to promote their work to a wider audience.

Dear Nadia & Nesy,

I would love to say a massive thank you for all your help and enjoyment with my work experience! Would like to show thank you for making me feel prouder of my art work I do and not the negative of it. Thank you for taking me on for work experience, I have enjoyed it very much with all the workshops. I would love to volunteer with Creative Waves for future projects

Yours faithfully

Shannon
